Lucid's Dream 2016-02-01 Lucid, an innocent kitten, is stuck in the crossfire between two immortal enemies: the "Maus" of Amen-Ra and the "Nightmares" of Apep. As soon as Lucis is put into the spotlight, both armies focus on recruiting him...And thus begins the amazing series of Lucid, filled with hand-drawn illustrations, magic, ancient Egyptian gods and mythology, death and destruction, and one kitten with an unexplainable and powerful ability that could help save the world or destroy it.

Is Superman Circumcised? Roy Schwartz 2021-05-19 Superman is the original superhero, an American icon, and arguably the most famous character in the world--and he's Jewish! Introduced in June 1938, the Man of Steel was created by two Jewish teens, Jerry Siegel, the son of immigrants from Eastern Europe, and Joe Shuster, an immigrant. They based their hero's origin story on Moses, his strength on Samson, his mission on the golem, and his nebbish secret identity on themselves. They made him a refugee fleeing catastrophe on the eve of World War II and sent him to tear Nazi tanks apart nearly two years before the US joined the war. In the following decades, Superman's mostly Jewish writers, artists, and editors continued to borrow Jewish motifs for their stories, basing Krypton's past on Genesis and Exodus, its society on Jewish culture, the trial of Lex Luthor on Adolf Eichmann's, and a future holiday celebrating Superman on Passover. A fascinating journey through comic book lore, American history, and Jewish tradition, this book examines the entirety of Superman's career from 1938 to date, and is sure to give readers a newfound appreciation for the Mensch of Steel!

Devotion Adam Makos 2015-10-27 THE NATIONAL BESTSELLER • SOON TO BE A MAJOR MOTION PICTURE • From America's "forgotten war" in Korea comes an unforgettable tale of courage by the author of A Higher Call. "In the spirit of Unbroken and The Boys in the Boat comes Devotion."—Associated Press • "Aerial drama at its best—fast, powerful, and moving.”—Erik Larson Devotion tells the inspirational story of the U.S. Navy’s most famous aviation duo, Lieutenant Tom Hudner and Ensign Jesse Brown, and the Marines they fought to defend. A white New Englander from the country-club scene, Tom passed up Harvard to fly fighters for his country. An African American sharecropper’s son from Mississippi, Jesse became the navy’s first black carrier pilot, defending a nation that wouldn’t even serve him in a bar. While much of America remained divided by segregation, Jesse and Tom joined forces as wingmen in Fighter Squadron 32. Adam Makos takes us into the cockpit as these bold young aviators cut their teeth at the world’s most dangerous job—landing on the deck of an aircraft carrier—a line of work that Jesse’s young wife, Daisy, struggles to accept. Deployed to the Mediterranean, Tom and Jesse meet the Fleet Marines, boys like PFC “Red” Parkinson, a farm kid from the Catskills. In between war games in the sun, the young men revel on the Riviera, partying with millionaires and even befriending the Hollywood starlet Elizabeth Taylor. Then comes the conflict that no one expected: the Korean War. Devotion takes us soaring overhead with Tom and Jesse, and into the foxholes with Red and the Marines as they battle a North Korean invasion. As the fury of the fighting escalates and the Marines are cornered at the Chosin Reservoir, Tom and Jesse fly, guns blazing, to try and save them. When one of the duo is shot down behind enemy lines and pinned in his burning plane, the other faces an unthinkable choice: watch his friend die or attempt history’s most audacious one-man rescue mission. A tug-at-the-heartstrings tale of bravery and selflessness, Devotion asks: How far would you go to save a friend?

I, Avatar Mark Stephen Meadows
2007-12-27 What is an avatar? Why are there nearly a billion of them, and who is using them? Do avatars impact our real lives, or are they just video game conceits? Is an avatar an inspired rendering of its creator’s inner self, or is it just one among millions of anonymous vehicles clogging the online freeways? Can we use our avatars to really connect with people, or do they just isolate us? And as we become more like our avatars do they become more like us? In I, Avatar, Mark Stephen Meadows answers some of these questions, but more importantly, he raises hundreds of others in his exploration of avatars and the fascinating possibilities they hold. His examination of avatars through the lenses of sociology, psychology, politics, history, and art, he will change the way you look at even a simple online profile and revolutionize the idea of avatars as part of our lives, whether first or second.

Virtual Justice Greg Lastowka
2010-10-26 Tens of millions of people today are living part of their life in a virtual world. In places like World of Warcraft, Second Life, and Free Realms, people are making friends, building communities, creating art, and making real money. Business is booming on the virtual frontier, as billions of dollars are paid in exchange for pixels on screens. But sometimes things go wrong. Virtual criminals defraud online communities in pursuit of real-world profits. People feel cheated when their avatars lose virtual property to wrongdoers. Increasingly, they turn to legal systems for solutions. But when your avatar has been robbed, what law is there to assist you? In Virtual Justice, Greg Lastowka illustrates the real legal dilemmas posed by virtual worlds. Presenting the most recent lawsuits and controversies, he explains how governments are responding to the chaos on the cyberspace frontier. After an engaging overview of the history and business models of today's virtual worlds, he explores how laws of property, jurisdiction, crime, and copyright are being adapted to pave the path of virtual law. Virtual worlds are becoming more important to society with each passing year. This pioneering study will be an invaluable guide to scholars of online communities for years to come.

A Guide to Luminous Places Paul C. Adams 2018-08-06 Photography BLACK AND WHITE edition: Luminous Places is a guide for personal development that can lead to finding locations, both geographical and internal, where various kinds of luminosity predominate. This is a special volume of practical information, short stories, autobiographical narratives and wilderness landscape photography. Selections of source materials and inspiration came from my website: Luminousplaces.com. This book offers much more, with new photographs, updated and edited selections, including a table of contents, reference notes and a bibliography. Today people do not have time to read as much as they would like, yet want to know, as soon as possible about useful ideas or tips. For this reason, important information is listed by titles and subjects that can be accessed directly from the table of contents. This book meets the need to find information that is to the point, easy to read, and saves time. A Bibliography and End Notes has been included for those who would like to read more about the many subjects referred to. This edition is specially designed for Kindle readers, which can also be used with Kindle software on tablets and computers. Part I Inner Luminosity covers subjects including developing personal sensitivity, food and diet, breathing and air energy, mental concentration, lucid dreaming, vivid imagination, improved memory and extraordinary states of consciousness. Part II Outer Luminosity is about personal vitality, luminous people, home improvements, high metabolism, walking, drumming, lightning, solar activity, the geomagnetic field, and much more. In addition, I have included auto-biographical narratives to provide entertaining stories relevant to the subjects discussed in both part I and II. These stories are about my inner journeys to learn and explore via hypnosis, yoga, shamanism, drumming and dreaming. Subjective experience is the basis to perceive and locate luminous places.

Methods to facilitate a calm and clear inner state of awareness, essential for differentiating a very wide range of subtle feelings, are included in this guide. It takes dedicated practice to learn how to see with feeling, and in the beginning, it is difficult recognizing and distinguishing between qualities within the spectrum of invisible luminosity. Powerful spiritual and religious experiences are associated with some luminous places. Excellent examples are Jesus and the transfiguration on Mount Hermon and Moses receiving the ten commandments on Mount Sinai. Also, Mt. Shasta in California and Mt. Kailash in Tibet have facilitated spiritual experiences and revelatory insights for many people. Worldwide there exist many undiscovered luminous places capable of enhancing spiritual or religious experiences to various degrees of intensity. These blessed natural locations can open inner doors, clarify the heart, mind and soul. I hope this guide will help people find luminous places everywhere, leading to inner luminosity, insight and wellbeing. About the Author: Paul Adams has worked in electronics technology, as an associate professor, instructor at seminars and lectures, as a percussionist, a wilderness and tour guide, an art collector-salesman; he has also worked in self-storage, and as a sales associate in grocery and hardware. During his teenage years, he designed and built ham radio transmitters, receivers, and set up antenna systems used for worldwide amateur radio communications. In the field of electronic air purification technology, age 30, he received a patent, for a unique air purifier-ionizer design: operational prototypes of this device gained endorsements from distinguished professionals. In his youth, Paul was a falconer, hiking in wilderness areas searching for falcons and hawks. Prior to this, he was a volunteer for a series of hypnosis experiments at Stanford University.
